

The AAMC can help you prepare a competitive application.

Use the Medical School Admissions Requirements™ (MSAR®) to identify the medical schools that best fit your unique goals and priorities. MSAR provides comprehensive profiles of each MD-granting medical school in the U.S. and Canada with data from the AMCAS® application, MCAT® exam and information provided directly by each medical school. Unlike other sources, MSAR profiles are updated by medical school throughout the year, so you can be sure the information is current and accurate.

The American Medical College Application Service® (AMCAS®) is the AAMC's centralized medical school application processing service. Most U.S. medical schools use AMCAS as the primary application method for their first-year entering classes. Visit the AAMC online to learn about:

- Participating medical schools and deadlines.
- A detailed, section-by-section guide to completing the AMCAS application.
- Tools and tutorials for premed students preparing to apply to medical school.
- AMCAS application policies
- Frequently asked questions and contact information for AMCAS
